Barbara Manning was awarded the Borwick Prize for piano at the Royal College of Music and gained ARCM and LRAM Diplomas for piano and violin. Solo engagements have included the Hertford 'Soundbites' series and St. Alban's Music Club, as well as performances of concertos with the Maltings Sinfonia of Ware. She joined the group 'fourte' to perform of Mozart's G minor Piano Quartet. Barbara accompanies Ware Choral & Operatic Societies and the World Festival Chorus. She has accompanied the Figaro Singers and the [winning] Lea Valley W.I. Singers competing at St. John's Smith Square, the Royal Albert Hall and in a documentary for Channel 4. She was recently invited to accompany the BBC Symphony Chorus at rehearsals at Maida Vale Studios.

Over the last twenty years, Julian Williamson has been associated with a large number of orchestras and choirs. He has performed regularly at the South Bank, at St. John's Smith Square and the Barbican Hall where, apart from his many concerts with the Camden Choir, he has appeared with the London Bach Orchestra and the English Festival Choir. His work has taken him not only to many parts of Great Britain but also to Germany, Holland, Zimbabwe and the USA.

Paula Tysall studied the violin at the Royal College of Music and the National Centre for Orchestral Studies. She won the Associated Board Silver Medal for Grade 7. As a member of the New London Orchestra she has taken part in many acclaimed recordings for Hyperion Records, Radio 3 and Classic FM and Adventures in Motion Pictures' production of Swan Lake. She also plays in the Ashington String Quartet.
